Dear son,

I received your letter this morning. I was glad to hear from you all and to know you thought properly the improvements we are all as well as usual except the palpitation of my heart that came for a few days. I am glad of it; it is better than it has been for office weeks back. I have not heard from Iowa. I have heard you are well. I have not heard from you. I was thinking of going up to Mayesville to pay off some money I had on you or your debt. What do you think? I would have gone up in my place if you had told me. I would have come up on Tuesday before the election. I am to pay off the debt. I am not in any condition to pay off the debt. I need your good fortune. I am always thinking of you and your family and I have been to the election and I was satisfied they would vote for the candidate. I hope you are well and that Harriett is doing well.

With love, your father.
it hurt me to write to day. I think my heart will be better in a little day after the excitement of this election. I hope for a return to the same. I have had to lie out a good deal this summer and have had from it much trouble. Come down as soon as you can. I would be glad to see Cornelia and the children.

I will write next week. Remain yours,

John

Dear Mill,

I am off to California and must ask a favor of you to give James all the comfort and assistance you can. You must take him to her friends. I hope to be able to make something of myself before you see me. I have done many of myself and am now better about repairing it.

Then I wish that I can say to you. Only if Lucy prefers it let her live with you and Bernice until my return, she will have plenty to supply her comfortably. Only let J. advise the may grant give her. Then you will thoroughly do.

There is nothing now that wish to trouble you with. My love to all.

God bless you.

P.S. It will not be worth while to go to any expense in telegraphing to New York or to any other expense of like nature. If possible be far on my way before they reach you.
